CONTINUE TO PUSH FORWARD NORTH OF THE ANCRE AS WELL

British Reach Achiet-Legrand, High Water Mark of Advance, and Hold Town Firmly After it Changes Hands Several Times. French Press on Towards Coucy Le Chateau.

NOYON IS OUTFLANKED FROM THE EAST

(By United Press)

London, August 22—4:20—Achiet-Legrand, the high water mark of the British advance north of the Ancre, has changed hands several times but is now firmly held by the British, according to reports received here this afternoon.

Paris, August 22—4:00 p. m.—The French have crossed the Ailette river on a mile front, between Champs and Gunny, and are pushing toward Coucy Le Chateau, 11 miles directly north of Soissons and 2 miles east of Gunny.

In the Coucy Le Chateau region a German region prepared to counter attack. They fled in a panic, throwing the division in the rear in confusion.

Noyon is rapidly being enveloped. It is now outflanked from the east. French troops are ready to cross the Oise Canal which they have reached, a mile and a half southeast of Noyon.

The Divette river is entirely in the hands of the French.

Gen. Mangin's men are near the junction of the Oise and Ailette river. Four miles northwest of Soissons the Germans attempted a counter attack but were repulsed.

A fleet of 70 heavy tanks at one point in the French advance spread terror among the Germans.

6 Miles of Hindenburg Line

With the British Army in the Field, August 22.—The attack on the high ground between Albert and Bray this morning is reported as "going good."

This represents a front of about 6 miles. Fighting conditions today were less favorable than yesterday. There was no mist and the sun was hot. The Germans are opposing General Byng on the Ancre with the utmost desperation.

With the British only 6 miles from the Hindenburg line at one point today, the enemy is enforcing the back road with additional troops coming up. Six divisions were identified yesterday.

The Germans used their heaviest guns all through the night.

It was evident that Byng's push had considerably disturbed the high command, in view of the constantly developing French successes on the south.

British Attack on 6-Mile Front

London, August 22.—The British attacked on the whole front between the Ancre and the Somme at 4:45 this morning. Field Marshal Haig announced.

The attack was evidently made on a front of between 5 and 6 miles. This is one of the strongest defensive positions held by the Germans and its possession held up the northern wing of the allied offensive in Picardy. American troops brigaded with the British were operating in this sector a few days ago.

RUSH COUNTY BOY TO BE INSTRUCTOR

Sergt. Vaughn Cook 1 of 6 Non-Coms Back From West Front to Aid at Cantonnements

WAS WITH RAINBOW DIVISION

Sees Six Months Almost Continuous Battle Experience on Marne and Champagne Regions

Sergeant Vaughn Cook, a former resident of this country, is the first Rush county boy to return from the battle front of the Marne with an eyewitness story of how our boys met the German drive, stayed it and then turned it into a German rout.

Sergt. Cook, who was a member of the A Battery of the Rainbow division, lived in the northern part of the county for a number of years and has a wide acquaintance in this city. He was in the thick of the fight when the German drive at Champagne was utterly blocked and again fought in the Chateau Thierry region when the Huns were given a run for their lives. The regiment to which he was attached was just outside Fismes when the party left for the front, Aug. 6 and started for America.

Sergt. Cook returned to America with Lieut. John R. Reinhard and five other non-coms, all from the Rainbow division and recognized as veterans of the war after six months almost continuous battle experience. They have been returned to American army cantonments as instructors.

Their first assignment is Camp Merritt, New York, after which they will be sent to Camp Meade, Md. Within a few days, the party which is in the east, will be allowed to visit Indiana and during their leave from the western battle front the newly organized troops in this country will doubtless profit much by their experience.

ANNUAL CHURCH MEETING

At the annual meeting of the officials of the Ben Davis Creek Christian church which was held last night, Joseph M. Wiles was elected trustee. All of the deacons and elders of the church were re-elected in addition to the re-election of the treasurer, Charles Foster. The newly elected committee on church entertainment was composed of Mrs. Walter Gray, Mrs. Jesse Peters and Mrs. John Mauzy. The Rev. William Sullivan, pastor of the church, was present at the meeting and assisted in making the plans for the church work to be carried out during the year.

Fighting on Many Fronts

London, Aug. 22.—Shifting their assault to the southward, the British in Picardy today swung the main weight of a new hammer blow against the Germans between the Ancre and the Somme. North of the River Ancre, General Byng's 3rd army, which took nearly 3,000 prisoners

WILL INTRODUCE BILL FOR LOCAL CO.

Senator Watson Will Assist in Re-imbursement Plan For Rush County National Guardsmen

PURCHASED OWN EQUIPMENT

Results From Agitation Which Prevailed at What is Believed to be Great Injustice

As the result of the agitation which prevailed when it became known that the members of the Rush county units of Indiana national guardsmen were compelled to defray the expenses for outfitting themselves with uniforms and shoes when the units were organized, Senator James E. Watson is preparing to introduce a bill in congress whereby the men will be reimbursed.

The movement to reimburse the men was given more prominence recently when it was stated that by each payment on their uniforms, insurance, allotments and liberty bond payments, the end of each month would the privates owing the government money.

The men were forced to outfit themselves, because when they were called into service a year ago, there was not sufficient equipment in the hands of the Indiana adjutant-general to supply the company, so the equipment was purchased on the open market and the expense borne by the men, with the exception that they would be reimbursed at an early day.

After nearly a year of negotiations, the military bureau of the war department has finally decided that there is no way legally to reimburse the men and as a result special legislation will be necessary. It is not believed by officials that the bill will meet with opposition.

COLORED SELECTS GIVEN A SEND OFF

Detachment of Eight Leaves This Morning For Training at Camp Dodge, Iowa

PURSE OF 20.25 FOR THEM

Camp Custer, Mich., Quota Will Leave Week From Today on a Special Big Four Train

Eight colored military registrants left this morning at 10:51 over the C. I. & W. for Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Iowa, amid the shouts of approval from a crowd of more than two hundred people gathered at the station. A purse of $20.25 was collected at the depot and presented to the captain, Clayton Wills, to be divided among the selected men, making them $2.50 each.

A number of the men going with today's detachment lived in Carrollton, where a big celebration in their honor was held last night. A fried chicken supper, together with watermelon and other "trimmings," was served to the boys.

The local army board today received the train schedule for the Camp Custer increment, of two men, which will leave for Battle Creek, Mich., Thursday, August 29. Roy Evans and Albert H. Hurst have been selected to answer this call. They will leave on a special train over the Big Four which will arrive here at 9:37 a. m.

The special will start at 5 a. m. and will pick up five men at Brookville, fourteen at Aurora, ninety-nine at Lawrenceburg and twenty-six at Greensburg. The train will proceed by way of Anderson, Goshen and Huntington taking on draft detachments all along the line. The train is scheduled to arrive at Battle Creek at 6:15 p. m. of the same day.

The local board urges that young men becoming twenty-one years of age since June 5 last not neglect to register for military service Saturday. The registration will take place at the clerk's office in the court house from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. It is estimated that about twenty men will register.

The eight colored men who left this morning are expected to arrive in Des Moines tomorrow in time for dinner. On the same train which carried them, were detachments of colored men from Liberty and Connersville. The local quota was composed of the following:

Joe Stewart, Rushville.
William Archey, Carthage.
Edward S. Merriweather, Carthage.
William E. Newsome, Carthage.
James Burrell, Jr., Jeffersonville.
Clayton Wills, Rushville.
Harlan Tuttle, Carthage.
William Jackson, Charleston.

CAR INSPECTING MERGED

Officials of all four railroads entering Rushville were here today and arranged for a consolidation of the car inspection departments of all. This follows closely on the merging of the C. I. & W. passenger and freight business, which was closed up today. All the Pennsylvania passenger business from now on will be conducted at the C. I. & W. depot and all Pennsylvania freight business will be handled at the C. I. & W. after next Monday. The office was being moved today.

GREAT WASTE OF AIRCRAFT FUND CHARGED

Senate Military Committee Says Substantial Part of $640,000,000 Was Wasted

THE REPORT IS MADE PUBLIC

Declares Supply of Planes on American Battle Front in France is Inadequate

601 SENT TO FRANCE BY AUG. 1

Only 67 Had Reached Battle Front July 1, Committee Says—Discarded Machines Used

(By United Press)

Washington, August 22.—A substantial part of the first appropriation of the $640,000,000 appropriated for aircraft was wasted, the report of the senate military affairs committee which probed aircraft production, made public today, declared.

The supply of planes on the American battle front is inadequate to meet the requirements and United States troops are forced to use antiquated machines discarded by the French, the report says.

The situation at present, according to the reports, is as follows:

"Six hundred and one De Havilland fours had been sent to France up to Aug. 1. Sixty-seven had reached the battle front July 1.

"We have not a single American-made fighting plane nor a heavy bombing machine on the battle front.

"We have not developed and put into production a successful plane on a large scale."

The committee recommended one man control of aircraft production; speeding up on production; encouragement of invention and reduction of profit on future contracts.

The investigation disclosed a waste of money and lack of a common sense policy early in the war, the statement said.

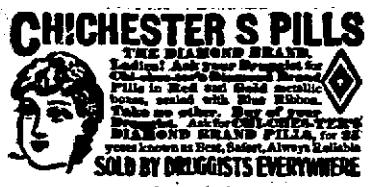

It continued "that while many disappointing results were disclosed, much has been accomplished, and while there is yet much to be remedied, nevertheless we are approaching a period when quantity production may be hoped for."

Failure of the aircraft program was largely due to production of the machine being placed in the hands of great auto manufacturers who were ignorant of air problems and our failure to adopt the policy of reproducing the most improved style of European machines early in the war.

RULES MADE TO PROTECT SELLER

Receivers Who Handle Produce Expected to Show Shippers How Goods Will be Sold

TO STOP UNFAIR PRACTICE

Seller May Judge Whether or Not he Has Received Best Possible Treatment

Because of a lack of understanding of the way in which a commodity was to be handled and sold on the market there has been a great deal of trouble between shippers and receivers. The Food Administration, however, has made rules and regulations which are designed to force receivers who handle poultry, eggs, butter and other produce to make clear to the shipper just how his goods will be sold.

Licensees act in either one or the other of two capacities. They are agents who sell for the shipper on commission or they are actual purchasers for their own account. Some of them are engaged in both lines of business and the shipper is often at a loss to know whether the receiver has bought the goods for his own trade or sold them to someone else. In such a case there is the possibility that the price realized would not be so high as when sold on a competitive market.

The Food Administration now requires a receiver to give detailed information to the shipper regarding the disposal of his consignment, so that he may judge whether or not he has received the best treatment possible. When he buys the goods outright he must not use any expression in reporting to the consignor that would tend to give the impression that the sale had been a commission transaction. The expression "not return basis" is not to be used at all in describing purchases. It can be used only in reference to an agency transaction.

By this action the Food Administration is discouraging a very prevalent unfair practice.

CIRCUS ENTERTAINS GOOD SIZED CROWDS

With All The Snap Attending Big Tent Show, Robinson's Pleases at Both Performances

NELSON FAMILY A HEADLINER

The John Robinson circus, the largest and most pretentious one which has been in Rushville for many summers, pleased two good sized audiences yesterday. The evening crowd was not as large as expected, but the attendance at the afternoon performance was very satisfactory.

The usual circus program, with all the rush and snap which attends a big tent show, was given, the night performance being equally as good as that in the afternoon. Most worthy of favorable comment was the Nelson family, a group of a dozen aerobats ranging in age from tiny tots to past middle age men and women. They performed with rare skill and ability and held the attention of the crowd of the stage in the center of the tent to the exclusion of all other acts.

The bareback riders, trapez performers, tight wire walkers, acrobats, clowns, jugglers, trained elephants, seals, monkeys, horses and dogs, were on the program in abundance and kept the crowd busy trying to see all the acts at once. Hippodrome races and a slide down a wire, hanging by her teeth, from the top of the tent, by a woman concluded the performance.

Eighteen demountable houses were erected in a single week by the American Red Cross at Malabry where a model village for families with tuberculosis members is being established. Foundations for forty more such houses have been completed. These houses are so built that the patient can receive outdoor treatment and live under the same roof as his family without endangering the well members.

NEW ALLOWANCE PLAN FOR SOLDIER

No Difference in Ultimate Sum Received But Manner of Distribution is Changed

DIFFERENCES ARE EXPLAINED

Method Has Proven Satisfactory Since New Ruling Went Into Effect More Than Month Ago

The new system of issuing soldiers allowances to their families which will simplify the work to a great extent, has been received by George C Wyatt, county chairman of the committee on civilian relief, and although radical changes have been made in the method of handing the allowances checks, they have been delivered satisfactorily since the new measure went into effect more than a month ago.

Under the modified arrangement every enlisted man in the military or naval service, regardless of rank or pay, must make the same compulsory allotment to his wife and children, $15 a month. To this allotment the Government will add a monthly allowance ranging from $3 a month for a motherless child, and $15 for a wife without children, up to a maximum of $50.

In addition, if the enlisted man desires Government allowances for dependent parents, grandparents, grandchildren, brothers and sisters, he may make voluntary allotments to them—fixed by the new amendments at $5 a month, where allotment is made to a wife and children, and $15 where no such allotment is made.

Under the new amendments a father through adoption and mother through adoption will be considered the same as a natural father and mother and will have the same rights to allotments and allowances.

Formerly, allotments were on a sliding scale and varied according to the soldiers' pay or the numbers and personnel of his family.

The new system, will simplify the administration of allotments and allowances. Henceforth the Bureau of War-Risk Insurance will handle allotments of only two amounts, $15 or $20.

The amounts of family allowances paid by the Government to supplement these allotments are not changed by the amended law.

Beginning with July pay, the Bureau of War-Risk Insurance handle allotments only to support family allowances—and then only in the amounts required by law to support such allowances. The excess allotments, and allotments to persons not entitled to allowances, will be handled by the War Department. Approximately 5,000,000 checks have been issued to date by the Bureau of War-Risk Insurance. Checks are being mailed at the rate of more than 40,000 a day.

SAVING SHOWS IN THE GARBAGE PAIL

Statistics on 96 Important American Cities Show 10 Per Cent Less Food Wasted

GREASE EXTRACTION LESS

Food Administration Heartily Encourages the Utilization of All Garbage

Food conservation measures which have enabled this country to save and export 141,000,000 bushels of wheat in the past year also have been responsible for decreased garbage collections, indicating that the housewife has observed the Food Administration's injunction to "put less into the garbage pail."

A statistical report covering 96 important American cities has just been issued by the Food Administration for the year ending May 1 last. The amount of garbage collected in 81 cities was 10 per cent less than for the same period of the year previous. In 15 cities there were increased garbage collections, due primarily to increased populations where war industries have sprung up or near which cantonments have been established. Another reason for the increase is probably that more improved and thorough means have been employed in collection as a result of appeals made by the Food Administration.

Many cities have been awakened to the importance of garbage utilization and there are instances where municipalities have taken over the garbage collection formerly handled by private concerns. Instead of paying large sums to contractors for disposal of city refuse they are saving this money by operating municipal reduction plants which are turning out large quantities of garbage greases.

The grease extraction from garbage has fallen off about 30 percent in the period under consideration, according to the figures, which nevertheless indicate a material saving of fats from the decreased amount of garbage that has been collected. In other words there has been less garbage and even less grease, but what grease there was has not been allowed to go to waste, but has been recovered to a higher percentage than formerly.

The Food Administration is heartily encouraging the utilization of garbage either through reduction plants for the reclamation of materials from which war necessities are made or as hog feed. In either case it is necessary to keep garbage free from foreign materials—papers, glass, crockery, tin cans, etc., so that maximum value can be derived with minimum expense and labor.

C. W. Carrick Holds First of Series of Poultry Culling Demonstrations This Morning

LAST ONE AT MAYS SATURDAY

The first of six poultry culling demonstrations in Rush county this week was held this morning on the S. Murray Parker farm west of Cartage. C. W. Carrick, who is conducting the demonstrations and who has just completed a special course in Cornell university, found fifty per cent of the hens on the farm were non-producers. He stated that this was a very high average, and was probably due to the feed.

The average is about fifteen per cent of the flock which does not produce.

QUESTIONNAIRES OF DOCTORS FILLED OUT

Twenty-Three Rush County Physicians Respond to Request of State Defense Council!

MANY ALREADY IN SERVICE

Questionnaires from Rush county's twenty-three physicians have been filled out and sent to the state headquarters of the defense council as a part of the card index of physicians in the state which is being compiled by the state headquarters.

In the recent drive for physicians which was made through the state, numerous physicians of comparative youth who failed to enlist were noticeable and it was because of the results of the drive that the questionnaire plan of indexing each physician in the state was adopted. The questionnaires contain all information necessary to the defense committee and will prove valuable information when the next call for physicians pulls rather heavily on the state's medical men.

That Rush county's quota has shown that here are no "slacker physician" in the county is indicated by the fact that every physician in the county who is yet classed as a comparatively young man, enlisted their services with the medics of the army.

With some former Rush county physicians already in France, Lieuts. Will S. Coleman, Lowell S. Green, J. E. Findlay and C. J. Tucker are still in American cantonments while other physicians have taken initial steps which will place them in similar service.

Recruiting Vs. Draft.

The Government has closed the recruiting stations.

Opinions differ as to whether the Government should close the saloons. But there will hardly be any divergence of opinion about recruiting.

"Treat us all alike" is true democratic philosophy. "Don't penalize the loyal enthusiasts of a section of us for the benefit of those who are less patriotic. Don't appeal to our emotions, or stimulate them into sacrifices for the advantage of those whose emotions are less volatile."

But there are other considerations than these. Abolition of the recruiting system is not merely an expedient for protecting the enthusiast, the alturist, the devotee. Under the old system many a man felt a strong impulse to enlist, but controlled it. He felt no fear of Ludendorff, but he was a little afraid of the man next door.

Jones wanted to enlist. He did not feel that his wife was entirely dependent on him. She had some money, and her folks were willing to look after her. So were his, for that matter. He had just enough of the ingredients of an exemption claim to put it over, but he didn't think he ought to.

Smith worked with Jones on the same job. He had as good a claim to exemption as Jones, and no better, but he was less Quixotic. He means to use it.

If Jones went to the front for three years Smith would stay on the job, and through the scarcity of hired help would get many promotions. When Jones came back to the job—if it was still open—Smith would be his boss. And Smith's wife would take care that Jones' wife didn't forget it.

So Jones stayed at home—and you can't blame him.

By the new arrangement the Government gets both Jones and Smith. It will probably get all the Smiths and Joneses pretty soon, unless they are under eighteen or over forty-five. Some of us are too short-sighted to shoot, too bow-legged to march, not heavy enough to sit down on a Boche and squash him cold. But Uncle Sam will come for us and ask us a few short questions.

"Did you ever run a lathe?" he will ask. "Ever did coal? Or use draftsmen's tools, or surveyors?" Are you a diemaker, a molder, a puddler, a chemist, a bookkeeper?"

Don't be bashful. We can most of us do something. And we had better not try to fool our loving uncle.

Dollars and Dough

There are optimists. And there are dreamers. And there are amateur clairvoyants whose rosy visions look like the phantoms of an alcoholic trance.

Some of us believe that after the war food prices will go back to where they were in 1910, and earlier. They say that the farmer gets too much profit now, but they do not realize that until lately he never got enough.

"We have made no attempt to import books from America because we realize that at the present time tonnage is needed in more essential directions. As to the class of read-

There is only one class in this country in which most of the labor is entirely unpaid. A farmer's wife and children constitute the bulk of his working staff, but they are not on the payroll—a condition existing in no other trade between the two oceans.

Yet a farmer is as much a specialist as an electrician. He needs as much scientific training as a dentist. His employees must be skilled workmen, and they must be paid skilled workmen's wages.

If, when the war is over, we find that the prices of farm products show a tendency to stay where they are we will know that the American farmer is coming into his own.

Demand For Small Coins

The announcement from Washington that 445,000,000 one cent pieces were coined by the Government in the fiscal year 1918 lends interest to a compilation by The National City Bank of New York regarding the country's growing demand for these little coins, of which the 1918 output was the largest on record.

The bank's statement on this subject shows that the number of one-cent coins manufactured by the mints of the United States from 1793 to the end of the fiscal year 1918 was 3,463,000,000, while the number issued in the last six years is, in round numbers, one billion.

The number of one-cent pieces coined never touched the 100,000,000 line in any year prior to 1907; the annual average from that time to 1916 was nearly 100,000,000 per year; in 1917, 213,500,000 and in 1918, 445,228,201 pieces.

BOYS IN HOSPITALS WANT HOME PAPERS

London, Aug. 17.—"More home newspapers" is the appeal continually made to the library committee of the American Red Cross by American soldiers in hospitals in Great Britain.

The library committee is at present furnishing reading matter for more than 25,000 men monthly, both in hospitals and in camps. The committee has its headquarters in a building at 14 Pall Mall East, London, where it keeps on hand at all times about 25,000 books and a large supply of magazines and newspapers.

The books are either gifts or are purchased in London. In its purchases, the committee restricts itself almost entirely to cheap popular editions, costing from fifteen to thirty cents a volume. "Our reason for doing this," says a committee report, "is that we get most for our money in this way. The books inevitably get hard usage, and some of them, used in the hospitals, must be destroyed almost immediately, owing to the danger of infection. Altogether, the life of those books is exceedingly short, and cheap editions, bound in paper or light cloth, are undoubtedly the most serviceable and economical.

"We have made no attempt to import books from America because we realize that at the present time tonnage is needed in more essential directions. As to the class of read-

BIG DEMAND FOR

UNSKILLED LABOR

Shortage of One Million and Indiana Has to Provide Her Share, Employment Agent Says

NEEDED FOR WORK IN STATE

No More Essential Support For Boys Over There Than That They be Backed by Laborers

Indianapolis, Ind., August 20.—The big labor jam has come and the final tabulations of labor demands show a present shortage of one million unskilled laborers in War industries.

This is the warning received from the United States Department of Labor, at Washington, by the United States Employment Service.

"Indiana has entirely too many common laborers engaged in non-war work," said L. C. Huesmann, in an interpretation of the telegram and its significance. "Patriotism should impel them to engage at once in some work that will contribute to the winning of the war. More than 500 industries in the state are now occupied with war contracts. They are short of laborers. Indiana must furnish its quota of laborers on the large federal enterprises which are a part of the preparedness program. There is no more essential support of the boys in France than that they should be backed up by the workers in these war industries, without which the entire national program must lag. That means delays which will be paid for with the lives of our fighters."

Mr. Huesmann stated that his advices indicate an additional shortage of tremendous proportions as soon as the new army expansion increases the need for supplies. The skilled labor situation, he says, is equally serious.

Indicating the significance of the situation, Mr. Huesmann says he is advised by Washington that contractors in Georgia have been notified that unless that state can furnish the eight million dollar picric acid plant at Brunswick with 5,000 laborers at once, the entire construction force will be laid off and the plant moved out of Georgia. He is informed, also, he says that the Midvale Steel plant at Coatesville, Pa., has been forced to shut down part of its plant because of the lack of laborers. In each of these cases Indiana is charged with responsibility for furnishing a share of the workers needed, as the government must have the products of these plants to carry on successfully.

Orders are being sent to Indiana for common laborers for war plants, and for others to be sent outside the state, Mr. Huesmann is advised, he says.

"This demand for men must be met no matter what happens to private business," is the way Washington sends the order. "The men must not be taken from the farms, railroads, or the mines but private employers must be prepared to release the men wanted for the government's war work."

In consideration of the information included in Mr. Huesmann's telegram, the Indiana State Council of Defense today addressed an appeal to mayors of cities, chambers of commerce, bankers, labor leaders and others to lend their support to the labor program, upon which the department of labor says so much depends.

ing matter selected, we leave it mainly to the demands of the men, and they ask principally for fiction, and light fiction at that. Where we are supplying more or less permanent libraries for hospital staffs or for American naval stations, we try to give an all-around tone to the collection of books, including classics, essays, poetry, biography and scientific works but still for the greater part, fiction.

"The magazines and newspapers must of necessity come from America. It is our experience that this class of literature gives greater satisfaction to the men than books. Their cry is continually for more of the home newspapers."

"Mr. and Mrs. George Osborne will return tomorrow from Chicago, where they spent two weeks in the gulf of relatives."

TO GET MORE PROMPT PLENTY OF SUGAR RETURN OF MILK CANS

At Suggestion of Food Administra-tion, Express Companies Urge Quick Service.

OF INTEREST TO DAIRYMEN

Dairymen who ship milk to cities will be pleased to know that work is being done on the problems of getting more prompt returns of milk and cream cans. At the suggestion of the food administration the express companies are sending out circulars to all their agents and messengers calling their attention to the need for quick service in sending back these containers to the shipper. They are being impressed with the importance of this service in keeping up a steady supply of a most necessary food and in giving the shipper an opportunity to market his highly perishable product quickly.

In some sections of the west special cream cans are being put on the lines leading to the larger cities. At Topeka, Kansas, two additional cans have been added for handling empty cans and the service has been greatly improved.

The food administration believes that the appeal to the employees will have the desired effect. The need in this important food industry is for prompt shipments both ways.

PLENTY OF SUGAR NOW AVAILABLE

Dr. Harry Barnard Says Rumors Concerning Canning Shortage Are Without Foundation

SEPTEMBER ALLOTMENT BIG

Household Consumption Will Still be Limited to Two Pounds For Each Person

Any assertion, intimation or belief that there will not be plenty of sugar to take care of all canning and preserving requirements is without foundation in fact, it was stated today by Dr. Harry E. Barnard, federal food administrator for Indiana. Dr. Barnard declares that any such propaganda is as much in opposition to the purposes of the food administration and the federal government as if it had its origin in Germany. There is plenty of sugar in the state to meet all legitimate conserving needs, and the food administration reiterates its plea for "a maximum of canning with a minimum of sugar" in order that every-one may have the assurance that all legitimate needs may be provided for, without stint.

For the month of September Indiana's sugar allotment is 12,276,000 pounds, which is nearly one-third more than allotted the state for the month of August. This "must take care of a reasonable amount of home canning, in addition to household and industrial requirements, based on August regulations." That is, that household consumption for ordinary requirements be limited to two pounds per capita.

The following telegram, which it was stated, had been wired to all state administrators has been received by Dr. Barnard from Washington:

"We have the reflection in Washington, that in many cases housewives are ultra conservative in the matter of the home canning, this season, under the impression that sufficient sugar for this purpose is unavailable to an extent that in some cases fruit is actually going to waste, that would otherwise be preserved. We cannot be too careful to impress upon the people that sugar is available for all legitimate requirements for canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables. It would be unfortunate if any fruit or vegetables are allowed to waste because of a lack of sugar. Rather we would take from our November and December allotments sufficient to meet the necessary requirements of September and October."

No such shortage as might occasion an advance requisition is apparent now in Indiana, the food administration states, and it is believed the available supply in the state will be sufficient for all.

RUSH COUNTY STAYS HOME THIS SUMMER

Few People Go North on Usual Summer Outing—Those Who go Say Resorts Lack Usual Crowds

NOTICE ABSENCE OF YOUTH

That summer resorts frequented by Rush county people during the months of July and August lack the hosts of visitors this year, that they have enjoyed formerly is the most noticeable feature of the summering places according to local people returning from the north.

Rush county people have not gone north this year in as great numbers as formerly and those who have gone say that everywhere summer hotel keepers refer to the season as the superlative degree of "rotten" as far as business is concerned. The absence of young men and women at the various resorts is the result of the fact that former frequenters have either joined the army or are engaged in the various departments of war relief work and other duties created by the war.

OBJECTORS PUT TO WORK ON THE FARM

Men in Army Who Have Scruples Against Fighting Are Given a Chance to Work

MANY LABOR AT CAMP TAYLOR

Washington, August, 22.—After struggling for a long time with the knotty problem of conscientious objectors in army cantonments, the war department now announces that the difficulty has to a large degree been solved through the aid of the farm help specialists of the United States department of agriculture.

In states where there are farming communities which include sects opposed to war, such as the Dunkards and Mennonites, and where additional farm help is needed, these places are made known to the cantonment commanders, together with a record of their farm labor needs.

The plan has worked out so well that in the three camps where definite lists of objectors were compiled, practically all of these men have been placed. Camp Meade had 88, all of them now at labor on farms; 100 of the 102 men at Camp Lee have been placed, and the majority of these at Camp Taylor.

That the marriage of Miss Velvia and Vernon Spivey, which occurred here Saturday, resulted in a big "shivaree" when the young couple arrived in Kokomo where they will reside, is the conclusion drawn from the following story contained in the Kokomo Dispatch:

To have been on the down-town streets last evening and heard the shouting and hollering, one would have thought that the war was over, the kaiser "licked" and that our boys over there were on their way home.

About 150 boys were marching over the streets of the business district "shivareeing." In an old buggy drawn by the boys were a couple who had just been, or about to be married.

Many people called The Dispatch office and asked the cause of the great jollification, some thinking that our boys "over there" had won a great victory, others thought that a train load of troops enroute to the coast had stopped here.

HOME DRYING IS BY NO MEANS A NEW ART

By DR. HARRY E. BARNARD
(Federal Food Administrator for Indiana.)

We have made our war gardens veritable ammunition plants. We must now make every pantry and household store-room and arsenal for the storage of these munitions of war.

Home drying is by no means a new art. It was used by our grandmothers in saving apples, peaches, pears and kindred fruits for winter use. Until recently, however, the practice of this form of household conservation has been given little application by the present generation. The ease with which the housekeeper could procure canned goods from the grocer served to discourage the use of this fine old custom, and dried products found little favor.

Perhaps something less than a world war might have caused its revival and expansion, but the fact remains that it was not until civilization was plunged into the whirlpool of strife that serious consideration was given the subject. With the outbreak of

Classes Fall Behind Quota On Bandages

Due to Many Delays, Work Has Lost Interest Compared With That of Last Winter, and Need For Surgical Dressings During Coming Winter Makes It Imperative That Output be Speeded Up.

With the surgical dressing classes several weeks behind in their bandage supply work, Mrs. A. G. Reeve has sent out an S. O. S. call to rejuvenate the interest in this most necessary branch of the Red Cross work.

The work at the present time is the most vitally necessary of any time of the year because of the fact that the bandages which are made now, will arrive at the field hospitals in time for use among the winter patients when the need for supplies will doubtless be felt most keenly. Because the classes have been disbanded at various times during the summer because of repairs which were being made in that department of the court house and during chanunna week, the county's quota of surgical dressings has fallen far below the mark, and since the reopening of the classes, the interest in the work has not been up to the standard.

The classes are working four afternoon each week—Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday—and now since ample material for large classes has been obtained and other conditions are right for the women to catch up on the work, Mrs. Reeve is most desirous that the classes become larger and the work cease to lag.

the war and the attendant food shortage, fruit drying was revived throughout America, and with it came the stimulus for vegetable drying as well. Today vegetables are being dried in the homes of this country on a scale never before approached and is constantly increasing. As in the matter of home canning, the people of the United States are giving practical application to the urgent plea of the United States food administration. For home canners the watchword is "Back up the cannon by use of the canner." For home driers it finds expression in the constant plea to "Fight the foe with Dreadnaught and Drier." The national benefit of this progress in enhancing the staying powers of the home grown food supply is very great.

As a means of providing for winter food needs the importance of fruit drying is given special emphasis this year by the scarcity of sugar. Mr. Hoover states that the sugar shortage is a real problem at this time. To save fruits by drying prevents tying up sugar which is needed to meet immediate demands. This gives added impetus to the need for drying fruits as well as vegetables.

TIME FOR QUOTA OF SOCKS IS EXTENDED

Red Cross Does Not Have to Complete Allotment Until Oct. 1—Women Urged to Get Yarn

FORMER DATE SEPTEMBER 1

Since the time for the Rush county chapter of the Red Cross to complete its quota of socks, has been extended from September 1 to October 1, it is urged that women call at headquarters here and get yarn for knitting. The time was extended a month because of the delay in the arrival of the yarn.

Many women have not taken yarn and started to knit socks because they believed it would be necessary to finish them by September 1, which many, with a limited amount of time to give to such work, thought would be impossible. However, since the extension of time which has been granted, Red Cross officials feel that Rush county women should now take an active interest in this department of the work and make it possible for the chapter to make its quota on time. Knitting socks now is very essential because they will be badly needed this winter by the soldiers in France.

WOMEN ARE ASKED TO CAN TOMATOES

County Food Administration Says Supply is More Abundant Than in Many Years

CAN THEM INSTEAD OF FRUIT

Government's Purchase of Factory Supply Demands That Housewife Can For Domestic Use

The Rush county food administration has issued a suggestion to the effect that in the absence of any amount of fruits available for canning purposes, the empty cans in each home be filled with tomatoes.

M. V. Spivey, deputy food administrator, declared this morning that during the past week more than a hundred bushels of tomatoes have been brought to the city each day and that unless the women can them for home consumption, that a goodly per cent of the crop will be lost.

That the government has already purchased most of the canned tomatoes in the factories, necessitates each family caring for the supply for their private use, especially since the prices have advanced to such an extent that a can of tomatoes weighing two and a half pounds will retail at thirty and thirty-five cents during the coming winter. The food administration is urging that people fill their empty cans with tomatoes this season because they will thus help to avert a sugar crisis by leaving hundreds of pounds to be rationed out in the weekly allowance for home consumption.

The tomato crop is better this year than it has been in a number of seasons and although the large canning factories have purchased enormous amounts for canning, there still remains hundreds of bushels which will be a total loss unless they are taken care of this week and early next week by the home canners.

WILL ISSUE SUGAR CARDS FOR CANNING

Psi Iota Xi Sorority Consents to Aid Deputy Food Administrator, Who Was "Swamped"

ABOUT 300 A WEEK ISSUED

The members of the Psi Iota Xi sorority have come to the assistance of the deputy food administrator in the issuance of sugar cards for canning purposes and have taken charge of the cards for the duration of the canning season.

With the issuing of sugar cards at the rate of two and three hundred each day, in addition to taking care of other work, M. V. Spivey was literally "swamped" with work brought on by the food conservation measures and appeal for assistance to the Red Cross. That organization asked the Psi Iota Xi for help and a ready response from the sorority members. Various girls have charge of the card issuance each morning and afternoon and are carrying on the work rapidly and efficiently.

Apples And Pears

If the house-keeper purchases apples for drying, she should postpone the work until the late autumn and winter varieties can be obtained, as these have a higher sugar content than do the summer varieties. But if the home orchard produces summer apples in excess of the immediate needs of the family, they should by all means be preserved by drying, as they give dried product which is not at all to be despised. Even windfalls, if reasonably well-grown make an acceptable addition to the diet when thoroughly dried.

To make the best grade of dried fruit, the apples used should be mature but not soft, and free from bruises due to rough handling. As the flesh of apples discolors very rapidly after it is exposed to the air, the work must be so planned in advance that the fruit is not permitted to stand at any stage of the process after its preparation is begun. If several persons are doing the work, this may be accomplished by dividing the paring, coring and slicing and spreading on trays so that any given single fruit spends only two or three minutes on the way from the paring knife to the drier. If only one person is doing the work and delays are unavoidable darkening may be largely prevented by dropping the pared fruit either into cold water or into a very dilute salt solution made by dissolving one tablespoonful of common salt in a gallon of water. In no case should the fruit be allowed to stand in water a moment longer than is necessary, since the water dissolves out sugars and other valuable elements, while prolonged standing results in absorption of water and slower drying.

Fruit should be carefully pared and trimmed to remove all discolored portions. If a paring and coring machine is used, the apples should be worked over with a knife in order to remove any bits of core left by the coring spoon. Most paring machines have a slicing attachment which cuts the fruit into rings. If they must be sliced by hand care should be taken to make the slices as nearly the same thickness as possible in order that they may dry uniformly; 3/16 to 1/4 of an inch is the best thickness. If preferred apples may be quartered or cut into eights, but such pieces, because of their irregularity, do not dry uniformly and there is also a tendency to dry at the surface while the centers are still too moist for safety.

If the housewife desires to make an especially attractive white dry product, it will be necessary to blanch the fruit after it has been pared, cored, and sliced by a short treatment with steam in order to prevent the discoloration which will otherwise occur. In order to do this, fit up a washboiler with a false bottom placed 4 to 5 inches above the bottom and make a wire basket to fit inside the boiler, resting upon the false bottom. Fill the boiler to a depth of 3 to 4 inches with water, place on the stove, cover with the lid, and allow to boil. Place the sliced apples loosely in the wire basket to a depth of not more than 2 inches, and when the water has reached vigorous boiling raise the lid, lower the basket into the boiler, taking care that the fruit does not come into actual contact with the water; replace the lid, and allow the fruit to remain in the steam for 3 to 4 minutes. Remove, spread in a single layer on trays, and at once place in the sun or in the warm drier.

While this rather troublesome treatment will result in the production of a white, inviting product, it retards the drying to some extent. The somewhat brown or chocolate-colored fruit produced by drying without blanching is as high in nutritive value and as pleasing in flavor as that obtained by blanching.

If apples are being tried in an evaporator, the temperature should be 130 to 140 degrees when the fruit is put in and the temperature should be kept at this point until the fruit has lost its crispness and becomes somewhat leathery. The heat may then be increased gradually—this may be accomplished by moving partially dried trays downward in the evaporator—but should never exceed 180 degrees. The trays should be examined from time to time, particularly when nearly done, apples.

CAN FOOD AND PRESERVE THE NATION

U.S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE

BRINE THE SURPLUS PRODUCTS;
EASIEST WAY TO SAVE PERISHABLES

The rush of summer work brings the housewife many days, when, can and dry as she may, she cannot handle all the products that come piling in. A bucket of brine will save the extra and keep it for a less busy season when more time is available to prepare it for use.

Brining is one of the oldest and easiest methods of saving garden products, but since the development of improved canning methods very little use has been made of this means of preservation. This summer every housewife should know the possibilities of brining, for delayed deliveries on jars or bad weather for drying may otherwise mean the loss of many pounds of perishable products.

A brine made in the proportion of 2 pounds of salt to 1 gallon of water, a scalded crock or bucket, a cloth, a plate or board, and a weight complete the brining equipment. For best results vegetables should be blanched for 5 minutes before brining.

The product is put in the container and the brine added. Then the cloth is put over the top and the board or plate weighted down on it to hold the solid material below the surface of the liquid. The brine is strong enough to act as a preservative without causing any change in the food.

Vegetables preserved in this way may be brought back later by soaking a few hours in fresh water. They are then ready to prepare for table use.

For further information on brining and on preservation by fermentation write to the U. S. Department of Agriculture for Farmer's Bulletin No. 881.

Amusements

Optimism of the Fairbanks brand is the key note of the story of "Say, Young Fellow," the latest Artcraft photoplay in which Douglas Fairbanks will be seen at the Princess Theatre tonight and tomorrow. Aside from its novelty, the theme of this splended picture is of the quality that cheers and invigorates one's jaded spirit as wine cheers the parched wayfarer under a verticle sun on the arid desert.

Anyone who has met a newspaper reported such as is portrayed by Mr. Fairbanks in this picture, doubtless will have an entirely new conception of the genus reportorial. This "young fellow" is a smiling chap, gritty, resourceful, a staunch optimist, an athlete of the first class, and a chap who refuses to give way to discouragement because things don't go just as he expected they would. By example he preaches the message that quitters are a pest and deserving of all that comes to them. In this respect, at least, "Say,

"Young Fellow," is of highly educational value to the young men of the day.

When this young reporter gets off on the wrong track and his mission to expose a fraudulent scheme in a small factory town is threatened with failure, "the girl" appears and, presto! comes the change, with consequent success. How the reporter wins his struggle at great odds and emerges triumphant from the mess in which he is involved, forms a delectable series of incidents which, culminated as they are by Mr. Fairbanks' irresistible and mirth-provoking athletic stunts, will charm every spectator as by a magic spell.

Friendly Enemies All Next Week.

On next Monday evening at the Shearlet Murat Indianapolis, theatergoers will have their first opportunity of witnessing the astounding play, "Friendly Enemies" which has been packing the Woods Theatre to the doors in Chicago for the past five months and is proving as equally successful at the Hudson Theatre, New York.

When "Friendly Enemies" was given its stage presentation in Washington, President Wilson who had been an interested spectator arose in his box at the expiration of the second act, and publicly endorsed it, saying, "All that I can say has already been said most admirably in this beautiful play. All the sentiments I could express have been admirably represented—sentiments that I hope will soon grip the world." This is without doubt the first time in history in which the President of the United States publicly endorsed a theatrical performance.

As soon as it is taken from the drier the fruit should be placed in a large wooden or pasteboard box, lined with newspapers and covered with muslin to exclude insects, and stirred at intervals of a day or two, mixing the older portions thoroughly with each new batch as it is put in. The box should be placed in a warm, dry, darkened room, so that drying may slowly continue by loss of moisture to the warm atmosphere. After ten days to two weeks of this treatment the fruit may be placed in permanent containers for storage.

Pears receive the same general treatment as apples. They should be mature but not soft and may advantageously be stored for a few days to ripen after picking. For home use they are prepared by paring, splitting into quarters or eights, coring and removing the stem. It is necessary to work rapidly after peeling to avoid discoloration and all that has been said as to methods of preventing discoloration in apples by the use of salt water and blanching in steam applies equally to pears. They should be dried at the same temperatures recommended for apples, but drying should be continued until the pieces have almost lost their elasticity and become somewhat crisp and brittle. After cure drying by placing in a box and stirring as with Forest, Iska Muff and Frank Lyons.
